Mission Statement

The Short Term Rehabilitation Unit at Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center provides a residential living option for individuals with disabilities to receive comprehensive, client focused, outpatient rehabilitative services which enable them to achieve their potential for self-sufficiency within their home and community

This residential, outpatient unit provides comprehensive, holistic, innovative and personalized rehabilitation to clients who require assistance for daily living but who do not require acute rehabilitation and 24-hour physician care.

Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center is nestled in the central Shenandoah Valley of the Blue Ridge Mountains in rural Fishersville, Virginia. Clients on this unit enjoy the peaceful beauty that this setting provides, yet have the opportunity to partake of the things that larger, nearby communities afford.

This unit serves clients ages 15+ who have already participated in acute rehabilitation and have had time to psychologically and physically adjust to their disability. These medically stable clients often are more ready to participate fully in goal setting, educational classes, medical therapies, driver's training, assistive technology and vocational assessments. A solid Discharge Plan is a prerequisite for admission to this unit.
